COUNCIL SELECTS MAX DAVENPORT

Unanimously Chosen For Grayling City Manager Post

Reach Decision In Special Afternoon Meet

Max Davenport of Roscommon, now an employee of the Lands Division of the Michigan Conservation Department, was the unanimous choice of the Grayling City Council to step into the city manager post which will be vacated on December 1 when present city manager George Granger leaves for a like position in the City of Big Rapids.

The decision was reached in a special session held at the City Hall last Thursday afternoon. Davenport, one of fifteen or sixteen applicants for the position, was among those interviewed by the Council at a meeting held on the evening of November 10.

Davenport is a native of Lake City, Michigan and is the son of John Davenport who was the contractor for the Grayling sewage disposal plant. The new city manager is quite well known in Grayling having been in contact with many in this city on Conservation Department business during the past several years.

Max Davenport was christened H. Maxwell Davenport and was born in Lake City, Michigan in 1912. He graduated from Lake City High School in 1930 and from Michigan State College in 1935 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Municipal Forestry.

He worked during his high school and college summer vacations with the Davenport Construction Company and the United States Forest Service. Immediately upon graduation from Michigan State, Grayling's new City Manager went with the Civilian Conservation Corps where he worked until November, 1937, on forestry, construction and supervisory work. In November, 1937, Max went with the Field Administration Division of the Michigan Conservation Department and continued with that division until January, 1940, when he was transferred to the Lands Division, in charge of state lands in Conservation Region 2. In his capacity with the Lands Division, Davenport appraised land for sale and exchange and worked with city, county and township planning committees and commissions on utilization of lands for public use and utility sites and other uses.

The new city manager is married and the family consists of three boys besides his wife, Doris. Theodore G. is the eldest, being 12 years old and in the 7th grade; Gary D. is 10 and in the 5th grade, and Bruce M. is 8 years old and in the third grade. The Davenport family have made their home in Roscommon for the past eight years where Max has worked out of the Conservation Regional Office.

TALL SPORTS STORY . . . Coach Ken Loeffler of the St. Louis Bombers basketball team calls Ephraim "Red" Rocha a "real find." Rocha is 6 feet, 8 1/2 inches tall, weighs 185 pounds and can't miss the basket.

Meet To Decide Park Situation

The Grayling Sportsmen's Club was scheduled to meet at the Legion Hall at 7:30 this Wednesday evening to reach a decision on the report rendered by its committee that contacted the Michigan Conservation Commission regarding a lease of the Grayling Winter Recreation Area.

The fact-finding committee expressed their approval of the lease offered by the Commission to the Club and the entire procedure will depend upon the action taken by the membership in Wednesday night's session.

Clough Named To School Board

Arthur Clough, local real estate broker and father of two children now attending Grayling Schools, was the unanimous choice of the board Monday evening to replace George Granger who resigned from the school board.

Mr. Granger, who will become City Manager of Big Rapids on December 1, tendered his resignation as the board meeting drew to a close Monday evening. After a short discussion by the other members of candidates for the post, Mr. Clough was unanimously elected to fill out the unexpired term which is up in July of next year. It will then be filled by election at the annual school meeting.

The Board also had a lengthy discussion on building maintenance problems including ventilation, floors, lighting, rain downspouts and the sound-proofing of the new band room. The board also okayed an order for two sections of knockdown bleachers to raise the seating capacity of the gym.

Announce Winter Window Contest

Window display men of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, and Michigan will again have an opportunity to participate in the annual Winter Sports Window contest sponsored by the East Michigan Winter Sports Council.

Total prize money has been boosted to $675.00. Because of the popularity of last season's contest, prize money has been raised from $350 to $675.00 with a first prize of $200.00. Other prizes are: Second, $100.00; third, $75.00; fourth, $50.00; and ten additional prizes of $25.00 each. The contest rules are simple, and can be arranged to tie in with a current display of winter sports clothes or equipment. The contest, open to all retail stores, large or small, closes February 6, 1948.

Here are the rules: Put in a winter sports display sometime during the month of January. Use as your theme any of the following winter sports: Skiing, snowshoeing, ice fishing, fox, rabbit or wildcat hunting, figure or speed skating, hockey, ice boating or winter carnivals.

Somewhere in the display use the words "Winter Fun in Eastern and Central Michigan."

Take a photograph of your window (in black and white) and mail a glossy print, preferably 8x10 size. Be sure your name, store, and address are written on the back. This information will be concealed and prints numbered before the judging. The judges will be selected from prominent business men, displaymen, and artists or art directors. All entries must be mailed before midnight, February 1, 1948. Displays will be judged for selling appeal, originality, and artistic arrangement.

State to Auction County Oil Land

The year's fourth auction of oil and gas lease rights in state-owned lands will be held December 5th, when operators will be offered 23,425 acres of wildcat lands in 17 counties.

More than 2,000 acres will be offered in each of four counties—Bay, Crawford, Lake and Midland—and lesser acreage will be available in Allegan, Arenac, Iosco, Kalamazoo, Mason, Mecosta, Muskegon, Muskegon, Newaygo, Oceana, Oscoda and St. Clair counties.

January, May and August auctions by the Conservation Department resulted in leasing for oil and gas exploration and development of 105,539 acres.

Smock Named All-Conference

Jerry Smock, leading ground gainer and Green Wave offensive threat "par excellence" was the only member of the local high school eleven named to the Northern "C" all-conference grid squad.

Cliff Papendick, at left end, Clare Burns, at center, were named to the all-conference mythical second team while Victor Papendick at guard, and Captain Chuck Feldhauser at halfback were given honorable mention.

The first squad was made up of five Charlevoix players, four Harbor Springs gridgers and one each from Grayling and Mancelona. The first team included: Ends, R. Carey (Charlevoix), Griffone (Mancelona); tackles, Angell (Harbor Springs), Shadka (Charlevoix); guards, Burke (Charlevoix), Linehan (Harbor Springs); center, Kishigo (Harbor Springs); backs, W. Carey (Charlevoix), Ayers (Harbor Springs), Martin (Charlevoix) and Smock (Grayling).

The picking of an all-opponent conference team was also voted on by the players themselves. Smock was again named to the first team with Cliff Papendick, Bob Lozon and Chuck Feldhauser placed on the second team. Burns was given honorable mention on the all-opponent squad.

Coach Willard Cornell said he was disappointed that Captain Chuck Feldhauser was not named to the second squad of the all-conference team, but added that with the conference loaded with so many outstanding backfield men it was impossible to meet everybody's choice.

Kiwanis Club Notes

Ken Taylor, District Scout executive from Midland was the speaker at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club of Grayling held at the Michelson Memorial Church Monday evening.

After speaking to the club on scouting matters as related to the district, Mr. Taylor presented a movie entitled "Scouting Paths to Citizenship" which was much enjoyed by the club.

Charles Smith and John McMillan of the Midland Scout Training Committee afterwards put on a leader's training course. Among the guests at the meeting were Edwin DeButt, new scoutmaster of the Grayling troop, and Rev. Henry Kuhlman, former pastor and president of the Kiwanis Club, who was in this area deer hunting.

The nominations of the nominating committee were read to the club members. The club's annual election of officers will be held next Monday evening.

Lieut. Colonel Russell Burns, former Superintendent of Schools in Grayling became a Master Sergeant in the regular army last Saturday.

Burns, 55 years old and married with grown children, left Grayling about 15 years ago to become Superintendent of Schools in North Branch. He is a veteran of 20 years in the Reserve Corps, including 13 years on active duty. As a commissioned officer, he was director of ROTC activities in Detroit's high schools from November, 1943 to June, 1946. He served in Japan from July, 1946 to September, 1947.

His terminal leave expired at midnight last Friday and he was sworn in as master sergeant of infantry in the United States Army Saturday. Burns said he expected to be assigned to ROTC work in Detroit and gave as his reason for the abrupt change in rank, "The philosophy behind my becoming a master sergeant is simple, it's just that I'd rather do Army work than anything else."

Wave Cagers Drill For Next Week's Opener

The Grayling Green Wave cagers are hard at work drilling for their next week's (November 28) opener with the north's leading high school quintet, the Charlevoix Rayders.

The practices are shaping up fairly well, Coach Willard Cornell said and added that the starting five would probably be picked from the following players: C. Feldhauser, R. Miller, R. Bielecki, M. Niederer, C. Burns, D. Owens, J. Trudeau and R. Rasmussen.

Tonight, the public is invited to the High School Auditorium to see a film made by the Oklahoma Aggies, two-time national champs in basketball. The film is entitled "Championship Basketball" and was secured for the Wave's cagers to look over. It will be shown gratis to the public tonight. The movie demonstrates all basketball fundamentals and features the play of Bob Kurland, the 7 foot all-American center of the Aggies.

Entertain With Shower

Mrs. Richard Thompson and Mrs. Jane Wirtanen entertained at a stork shower for Mrs. Vilho Wirtanen last Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Jonas Wirtanen. There were about 20 ladies present and the evening was spent playing buncos with prizes going to Mrs. Paul Laughton, Mrs. Leslie Hunter and Mrs. Floyd Wylie. A very delicious lunch was served by the hostesses. The guest of honor was the recipient of many lovely gifts.

Michigan Wildlife

"America will have lost its traditional character if it refuses (fuel and famine) relief under proper auspices," said Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg in an address at the University of Michigan.

The senator's remarks favoring additional food and coal for Western Europe, were expressed at Ann Arbor in ceremonies commemorating the Dutch settlement of Michigan 100 years ago.

Simultaneously and by coincidence, Governor Kim Sigler announced the Michigan Citizens' Food Committee led by Prof. Herman J. Wyngarden, head of the Michigan State College economics department.

Senator Vandenberg added an important note. "We must frankly canvass our own resources lest we impair our own economic collapse to end all democracy for keeps. We must know the total bill."

Vandenberg declared we should strive for an "unpartisan American foreign policy."

Governor Sigler stressed our patriotic obligation. "It is not a question of whether we agree with the President's program. The President of the United States has asked the people to cooperate. Those responsible should know the food situation in Europe. We in Michigan should, as in the past, do what is necessary to cooperate."

During World War II, more than a half million Michigan young men and a thousand or so young women left their homes for military duty. Most of them returned home safely. Some did not.

Our directing military genius, war-time chief of staff at Washington, was General George C. Marshall. Marshall is now secretary of state.

Quoting Secretary Marshall: "During this critical period in world affairs, food is a vital factor in our foreign policy. The attitude of Americans towards food can make or break our efforts to achieve peace and security throughout the world."

Why did General Marshall and Senator Vandenberg both stress the importance of food and fuel? The national citizen's food committee vouches for the following: Frost, drought and floods in Europe reduced the wheat and rye production in Western Europe by 200 million bushels. The U. S. wheat crop was a record 1,450 million bushels, while our corn yield was down 900 million bushels.

Europe needs 570 million bushels of wheat to tide them over the coming winter. And we have only 470 million bushels at hand for export — 100 million bushels less than are needed.

That's why you are being asked your leaders — President Truman, Secretary of State Marshall, Senator Vandenberg and Governor Sigler — to cooperate by conserving food. It's just as simple as that. As Mr. Marshall bluntly puts it, our foreign policy has entered the American home and taken a seat at the family table.

Grayling Area Produces Many Fine Bucks; Injuries Slight

The Grayling-Crawford County area continued to produce many fine bucks again during the start of this year's deer season. Although classified by the Conservation Department as a "starvation area," Crawford County deer appear as big and as healthy as anywhere — and just as numerous.

An army of over 300,000 red antlered deer hunters took to the woods Saturday morning as the season opened and by Saturday afternoon a stream of lucky license holders had started the trek southward toward home. Grayling put on an air of a big city on Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights as the influx of hunters jammed the downtown area and stores.

A heavy snow blanketed the county for the first day of the season and raised the hunter's hopes that continued snow on Saturday and Sunday held the deer kill down, it was felt. Monday and Tuesday proved far better days as the weather turned milder and snow flurries ceased. Besides the many deer bagged, at least two black bear were reported killed in the county.

Deaths due to hunting during the first of season were reported as 12 by the Michigan State Police, who listed eleven of the dead as victims of gun accidents, 11 dead in heart attacks while hunting, four in auto crashes and two victims of a plane crash en route to a hunting site. No deaths were listed in the Grayling-Crawford County area.

Four men were reported in "fair" to "good" condition at the Grayling Mercy Hospital as the result of gun shot wounds suffered while hunting near Grayling.

John Wierowski, 20, of Akron, Michigan, was described as in "fair" condition after treatment of a gunshot wound in the face. He was struck by a stray bullet while hunting between Grayling and Roscommon. The missile entered into his cheek and emerged on the other side of the face, it was reported.

A ricocheting bullet fired by a hunting partner struck Richard Bennett, 30, of Shelby, Michigan in the hip and he is in "fair" condition at the Mercy Hospital. Berle Willet of Mount Pleasant fired the bullet, reports said. The bullet hit a tree, glancing off and struck Bennett.

Clyde Rood of Grayling is in "good" condition after two bullet shots were removed from his hip. Rood was accidentally shot by his wife while preparing for hunting at their car parked south of the city. The gun was discharged in Mrs. Rood's hands while she was on one side of the car and her husband on the other. The charge tore through one side of the front seat, then scattering with two pellets hitting Rood. The slowing down of the scattering of the charge by the car's seat was credited with saving Rood from more serious injury.

John Kreka, 39, of Lorain, Ohio, was reported in good condition at the hospital after undergoing treatment of his right leg where he was wounded by a stray bullet while hunting near Gaylord. Upwards of 20 hunters have been reported as having been wounded by gunshot so far this deer season.

Quite a number of bucks were taken the first day, but the earliest reported to the Avalanche was a six point buck shot by Floyd Davis, local jeweler who filled his license at 7:10 opening morning. He made his kill but three miles from town, up the East Branch of the AuSable.

Sunday Night Fire Causes Little Damage

A Sunday night blaze which hit a building on US-27 in Grayling, owned by Charles Long and occupied on the first floor by the Brugman Portrait Studio and on the second by the Keith Goward family, did but about $100 damage according to Fire Chief Middle LaMotte.

An overheated furnace was the cause of the blaze which filled the building with billowing smoke which rolled into the sky when the doors were opened. The sirens and arrival of a fire truck drew a huge crowd of deer hunters who were in the city for the evening.

The blaze halted the plans of the Brugman Portrait Studio to open its doors on December 1. E. R. Brugman, the owner said following the fire. "We will be held up now for an undetermined time," he said.

The Goward family were forced from their apartment by the dense smoke but their living quarters were not touched by flame or water and suffered but slightly from the smoke.

Rites Read For Mrs. Elizabeth Bailey

Funeral services were to be read today by Rev. C. Puffer at the Sonson Funeral Home at ten o'clock for Mrs. Elizabeth E. Bailey, who passed away at the home of her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Bailey, on Tuesday, November 18. Interment was to be in the Pelliston Cemetery.

The deceased was born to Mr. and Mrs. James Kerr in Highland, Iowa, in 1873, the third youngest of 15 children. All but two preceded her in death. She became the bride of Wilbur A. Bailey in 1901. He passed away in 1934 and was also laid to rest in Pelliston. She had always lived in Iowa, coming to Michigan in 1931 to make her home with her only child. Surviving besides her son are a sister, Mrs. Jessie Pamphier of Strawberry Point, Iowa, and brother, Henry B. Kerr, of Lime Springs, Iowa, and a grandson, Wm. Morris Bailey, U. S. Navy, Portsmouth, Va., who returned to his base Saturday after spending a short leave with his parents.

Mrs. Mary Daugherty of Otsego, Michigan was taken to Mercy Hospital Saturday night in very serious condition as a result of an accident when the car in which she was a passenger skidded and overturned near Kalkaska. Four other passengers including an 8 months old baby, escaped without serious injury.

Car Registration Up 12 Per Cent

A total of more than a million and a half passenger cars will be registered in Michigan this year, an increase of approximately 12 per cent over 1946 registrations, it was estimated today by Automobile Club of Michigan.

Estimates indicate all states and the District of Columbia will show increases of from 2 to more than 22 per cent, bringing passenger car registrations for the United States to more than 30,000,000, the highest in history, Auto Club said.

The registration figures were cited by Richard Harfst, Automobile Club of Michigan general manager, in urging extreme winter care during the hazardous winter months.

"Because of the fact this record-breaking registration comes at a time when road programs and planning are lagging seriously," Harfst said, "motorists must be alerted to use additional care in driving, particularly during the approaching months if we are to avoid a soaring toll of deaths and injuries in the traffic lanes."

"Additionally, the average car in use today is some nine years old as compared to an average age of five and a half years for the cars operating in the pre-war period."

Inclusion of commercial vehicles bring total 1947 registration estimates to more than 37,000,000, an increase of 3,218,000 over the previous year and approximately 2,700,000 vehicles greater than the previous high record set in 1941, Harfst said.

The Auto Club general manager said the principal cause for the exceedingly high registrations, despite the small number of vehicles produced during the past six years, was the decreased number of cars scrapped during war years. Approximately 920,000 motor vehicles were scrapped yearly during the period from 1942 through 1946, as compared with an estimated 2,000,000 annually before the war, he said.

Hunter's Ball

Nearly 300 people enjoyed the Annual Hunter's Ball sponsored by the school staff. Three lucky folks took home hunting knives and a compass by being lucky at the door.

Several square dances added variety to the evening, while the Rhythm-King Trio plus a bass fiddle did the usual fine job of supplying the music.

Proceeds which will be close to $150, will be used toward the staff pledge of $500 for the Memorial Athletic Field.

Thanksgiving

Next Thursday and Friday, November 27 and 28, school will be closed for Thanksgiving. This will give the deer hunters the last four days of the season to get that buck.

member. We also thank the parents who furnished the transportation to and from the airport.

Signed, the boys and girls of the South Side School and their teachers.

There has been several tardy marks lately, especially since school begins at 1 o'clock instead of 1:15 o'clock. Let's try to get to school on time.

There are two first graders who have neither been absent nor tardy. They are Beverly Cooper and Wesley Davis. Darla Boger and Richard Davis held the same record in the second grade. In the third and fourth grade room those who have had perfect attendance are Donald Bancroft, Gary Gust, Kay Ann LaMotte, Burwell Griffith, Sandra SanCarter and Donald Thompson.

Last week both rooms enjoyed reading a short story, "The Enemy," in November's Open Road, written by Philip Faustman. The magazine was brought to school by Philip, Jr., a first grader, who, with his mother and little sister, Lydia, makes their home with the Albert Schriebers. Mr. Faustman is confined at the Halloran Veterans Administration Hospital, Building 21, Staten Island, N. Y.

The first and second grade room was very surprised and happy to have a visitor Friday morning, Clare Madsen's mother came and listened to us read. We were very pleased to have her and we wish more parents would come and see us at work.

Patrick Cox is back in school after missing several days due to a bicycle mishap.

Leon D. Ampur tells us they have a new oven for the addition his dad has built to his South Side Bakery.

Wesley Welch had the misfortune to shatter a shoulder bone about three weeks ago. His room prepared a "Get Well" box for him to cheer him up while at the hospital. We hope he will soon be able to be back with us at school.

This week the third and fourth grade room enjoyed answering a letter from Cruz Tonche, who attends the Kalamazoo Street School in Lansing, Mich. Cruz told us about some of his work and play in Lansing and he asked what we do in Grayling.

News From Homemaking Class I

During the past week we have studied about the value of milk, what a good breakfast consists of, the preparation and serving of breakfast. We also discussed the proper way of scraping, stacking, brushing and drying dishes and the cleaning and straightening up of the kitchen. On Monday and Tuesday we prepared and handed in posters on breakfast. On Wednesday the girls prepared the lab for "Open House" that evening.

Folks here were burned up over an article on Our Town I reprinted from a city paper. Made us sound like a bunch of "hicks" who whittled sticks and wore chin whiskers. (Last person I saw with chin whiskers was passing through on his way east.)

So I ran an editorial on how we spoke of city "slickers"—as overdressed wisecracks, only interested in making money, and spending it in night clubs.

Fact is, if we got to know each other we'd probably find we're not much different, underneath. City folks work hard; like to come home at night to their families; and relax with a moderate glass of beer, like we do.

From where I sit, it doesn't matter if you live in an apartment house or on a farm—work in an office or a cornfield—the American tradition of quiet home life, temperate habits, and neighborliness is common to all of us.

On Trial?

The following editorial is reprinted from the Bristol, Rhode Island, Phoenix:

"A prominent American, John S. Knight, speaking before a group of advertising men in Chicago recently, had some very pertinent remarks to make about our so-called capitalistic system.

"There is a subtle campaign underway in this country," he said, "to discredit the press and render it less able to defend minority rights.

"Perhaps we have failed to do a good selling job just as I suspect the advertising profession must confess that it has failed somehow to sell the capitalistic system to our own people.

"I, for one," declared Mr. Knight, "grow exceedingly weary of hearing how the capitalistic system is on trial. On trial for what?

"Has any other system accomplished as much or provided better standards of living?

"Why isn't socialism on trial in England or communism in Russia?

"If capitalism is through, why are we asked to provide food, the money and the tools to rebuild Europe?

"Thoughtful Americans should be on guard against the insidious efforts being made to discredit a system that has been responsible for this nation's continued growth and progress."

"No economic system is perfection but it is a bit sickening to hear references made to our system being on trial, the implication being that if it should fail, it would be supplanted by communism or some other ism. What have they got that even comes close?"

Then if ever come perfect days. James Russell Lowell. Yes, what is so glorious, as a warm June day, when the earth is putting on its mantle of green, the birds are once again singing their joy at being back, young children are playing happily in the warm sun, that same sun that is coaxing the beautiful, gaily colored flowers from their winter's rest.

The warm colors of the flowers have been and are used time and again in paintings and for our own clothing; the essence of a flower may be copied for fragrant perfumes or colognes. This is because flowers fulfill all our ideals of perfect beauty, and we imitate them to try to turn this beauty to our own advantage. Flowers are used to express love, joy or admiration, or to extend congratulations or sympathy, as the occasion warrants. No other medium has even been so widely used to convey our deepest and most sincere emotions.

Unlike the days of long ago, when flowers were a luxury to be enjoyed during summer's short span, and those which we knew and loved were those which were native to our own locale, today we may possess, at very short notice, an exotic tropical bloom, or we may wear the blossoms of a hardy species of plant formerly known only to those to the north of us, or we may, in mid-winter, decorate our homes with well-known and dearly loved flowers native to this country. Why, then, do we not make use of this wonderful opportunity to make the beauties of a June day a year-around delight? Why do we not make flowers a part of our every day life?

Rocking Chair is Mellow

As Keg-Rocked Whiskeys of Old!

Back in the sixties, New England skippers carried many a keg of whiskey on their long voyages—because a deeper, finer flavor resulted from the rocking motion of the ocean waves.

Ashore, they'd rock legs of whiskey lashed beneath their rockers to that same smoothness—a smoothness that's recalled in Rocking Chair Whiskey!

Only by controlled agitation in my special blending process do I achieve Rocking Chair's mellowness. For real flavor—at a thrifty price—say Rocking Chair!

Welcome, Mr. Deer Slayer

Welcome to the Northland, deer hunter—Now that you have arrived in the hunting area you are to be congratulated for having come to the end of a hazardous journey, and for the duration of your stay you can relax in comparative safety. You are now one of an invading army of wild-eyed goons who are armed with high-pressure shootin' irons who wait only for a rustle in the leaves before laying down a barrage with the hope that when the smoke clears they will find an antlered buck just dying to be dressed. Lots of these trigger-happy guys have read stories of the "red deer," so it is logical for them to shoot at anything red—therefore the smart thing for you to do is to throw away that gorgeous Red Wool suit that the little woman gave you for Christmas and wear something in a grey and white tones. The old red check suit is too warm anyway—its dollars to doughnuts that you found that out on the way up in the car, or maybe it dawned on you while you were loading the car before you left home.

A natty outfit, and one that is thoroughly practical, is grey trousers and jacket topped by a white knitted cap with flying tassel. You will spend so much time going back to retrieve it from overhanging branches that you will not get far from camp to get lost, therefore it will save the price of a compass which only amateurs carry anyway. Michigan deer have pink tails, so the white cap will in no way endanger you if one of the goons happen to pick the same county as you to hunt. Gloves are of course a necessary part of your costume. Be sure to get the white ones so they will not look like a deer's tail when you wave from a hillside to attract your friends' attention. White handkerchiefs are also advisable when hunting deer as they are more sanitary when used in bandaging gunshot wounds caused by careless goons. The handkerchiefs should be thoroughly shaken out in the breeze before wiping your nose. Sometimes this procedure eliminates entirely the necessity of wiping the old schnozzle.

If your party is normal you will have one member who is new to the game. This will provide loads of fun, for he can be made the fall guy for everything. If you are uncertain whether you have the right type of shells for your rebuilt souvenir gun brought back from the wars, get the fall guy to try it out on a target—If the gun blows up you can always say that it was inferior to our American sporting arms. If you think you might see a buck while travelling in your car tell the fall guy to slip a few shells in his gun and sit up front. After all, he has to learn the ropes, and this will familiarize him with the strong, silent men who wear badges. Another good stunt is to playfully throw a few loaded cartridges into the campfire while he is cooking or warming his posterior. This will tell you how far he can jump, and will provide no end of good clean fun which, of course is of paramount importance in camp.

Getting lost in the woods holds no fears to those of us who are old at the game, but a lot of fun can be had with the fall guy if he fails to show up by midnight while you are in camp. If he fails to show up for several days it is always well to keep an eye out for him while you are hunting. When you leave 'em out too long they have a strange appearance on their return. All amateurs should be coached on what to do in case they should get lost, so be sure to tell your friend to do the thing up right by running like the devil until he is completely pooped out. Then he should frantically fire away all of his ammunition and throw away his gun so he can run faster. This will avoid confusion later when he wants to signal, for he probably hasn't learned the right signal code anyway.

Never, never carry tire chains in your car when going hunting in Michigan. Many hunters have been known to freeze their fingers in trying to put them on in deep snow, and anyway it is much better to enjoy a brisk hike of ten or twelve miles for a tow car or snowplow—and remember, guys with tow cars are entitled to a living. County Highway Departments urge you to refrain from carrying chains as it deprives their men of the enjoyment of contact with you and they enjoy memories of these contacts through the long winters.

Foresters will tell you that green birch makes the best firewood. They tell you this only because they want you to cut it. When you cut up a cord or two, be sure to pick the most healthy and vigorous splings—preferably at some scenic spot. This will prove that you are a good woodsman and sportsman. When it is cut and neatly piled you will find that it won't burn, so leave it there with the rest of your mess, and find yourself some dry wood. This will make you solid with the Foresters as well as the local people.

It is hoped that these few little tips will help you over the rough spots on your hunting trip. By following them we can be assured of increasing the fatalities this year, and news editors can drag out the big headlines that have been gathering dust since the battle of the bulge.

Statistics prove that you will be safer while hunting deer this fall than you would be if you stayed at home and drove your car to work. This is a bad state of affairs—and we hunters must stop being so careful.

Children's Book Week

—The Story of a

November 16-22 will mark the 28th annual observance of Children's Book Week in the United States. Launched by the Boy Scouts of America in 1919 as a crusade to put good reading into the hands of America's children, the campaign is now sponsored by twenty-nine leading national groups in the educational and civil welfare field.

The influence of the Book Week campaign as a cultural crusade has been tremendous. It has spread across the nation, fostering the growth of special libraries for children and of a publishing industry which is unparalleled in any other country in the world. American children's books have attracted themselves as influential ambassadors of good-will abroad. In the United States each community observes Book Week in its own way. The cooperative spirit shown in preparing such community programs is unequalled by any other similar national "Week" during the calendar year. Book Week was the first of all such "weeks". Its National Headquarters today is the Children's Book Council at 62 West 45th Street, New York City. This office now serves as a year-round public information center for and about books for children.

The Council reports that eleven million American boys and girls still lack facilities to read and know any books other than text books. The crusade still goes on. This year's Book Week theme, "Books for the World of Tomorrow" will be widely activated by participants in the national campaign which is sending Treasure Chests of children's books overseas and this year for the first time, some of our own eleven million book-hungry children in the United States.

Troop Receives Letter From France

The following letter was received by Girl Scout Troop 4 from a troop in Julliy, France. Mrs. Richard Lovely translated the letter into English:

Dear Little Sisters:

All our circle was happy when we had received your box. Everyone received something with joy. The color books were used with much success. Also the knitting book.

The teacher promised us the two history books and will tell us about them during the winter days.

We thank you with all our hearts.

We are real happy to know that we have little sisters all over and that certain strangers think of us. We would certainly like to know what kind of uniforms you wear and what you make.

We are dressed in blue skirts, blue marine blouse, blue tie with the colors of our unit, ours is king blue and gold.

There are different kinds of troops, the Novices, the Blue Forests, the Blue Flowers, the White Flowers, the Gold Flowers. But home we have no gold flowers yet.

So now we would like to again say thank you and we all send you our troop salute:

Dear Leader

I join with my members to send also with all my group many thank yous.

I was very glad of the joy that was provided for my girls, because they are not spoiled girls. They are 12 years old and come from normal families in the rural district.

Excuse me leader for not writing in English, but I am not in the habit and the corrections would certainly show if I tried.

I send with a million sentiments our most fraternal salute.

Editor's Note: The following letter was received by the local V. F. W. Post from Elizabeth Matson, former Grayling resident.

Chief Shoppagon Post,
Veterans of Foreign Wars, Grayling, Michigan.

Gentlemen:

My congratulations to you for instituting a weekly dance for the young people of Grayling.

There has been much talk about providing a recreational activity for the young set, but nothing has been carried on to a successful finish. May your post show other organizations that it can be done.

It takes good leadership and an honest effort to work with the boys and girls. I'm sure you will continue to be the leaders in this activity.

Developing other activities for the students leisure time may demand outside help. If I may be of assistance in your planning, please do not hesitate to write me.

My best wishes for a very successful enterprise. May all parents co-operate with your organization.

Sincerely yours,
Elizabeth Matson,

SHORT STORY

Mrs. Halligan
ExpectsBy
M. J. COLLINS

A NASTY spring blizzard whipped over the county from the east, then swung around into the west and came charging back with a cold viciousness. Every road in the county was smothered in white oblivion. We were gathered around the huge box stove in Jed's general store. A bunch of old coots were, swapping tall tales and reminiscing about other storms.

"She's a gosh almighty blow," Old Enoch Silton took his pipe out of his mouth. "Sure raising hob with everything. Hate to be livin' on a back road and get sick."

"I'll say," Frank Hayes agreed. "You'd be hard put to get a doctor in now. This'd be about the time Mrs. Halligan would have another baby."

Seems to me she always has them at just about the worst time of the year."

"The Halligans got too many kids," Old Enoch growled as if it were a personal affront. "They're running around like rabbits."

"Say, listen!" Frank Hayes exclaimed. "I hear sleigh bells." Sure enough we heard them above the storm.

"That's Curt Evans from up Halligan's way," I said as the man holled "Whoa!" to the heaving, sweating team. We noticed a large bundle of blankets and covers in the back of the sleigh.

"Here's a list of groceries," Curt handed a slip of paper to Jed. He pulled up a chair and sat down, rolling himself a fat cigarette.

"Mrs. Halligan expectin'?" Frank opened the conversation cautiously. Curt is a big fellow, sort of saturnine. He lives all alone and you can never quite tell how he's going to take your questions.

Curt finally nodded. "Old man Halligan's sort of put out about it too. Says something always goes wrong with their aggerin'. He was hoping to have a spell of nice weather and now he's laid up with the flu."

"How many kids they got now?" Old Enoch growled. "Ten or eleven?"

Curt started counting them off on his fingers. "Edith, Judy, Ray—?" and so on, "I don't know," he finally admitted.

The Halligan farm is next to Curt's so if anyone should know how many little Halligans there are, Curt's the man.

WE FIGURED he had come down to meet the train, it generally got to the village about twenty-three. Old Doc Horner would be aboard and Curt would drive him out to the Halligan's place swathed in the blankets we'd noticed in the sleigh.

Jed phoned across to the station and was told the train would be half an hour late.

relaxed again. He had been ready to go and on the horses in order to have them all set when the train arrived.

The talk went right back to babies. You would have been surprised to hear we knew so much about the subject.

"Think you'll have any trouble getting back over the road?" Frank asked Curt.

"I hope not. I want to get back as fast as possible."

The shrill whistle of the train sounded faintly.

"Well," Curt said, rising and reaching for his coat. "Guess it's time to harness up. Got them groceries, Jed?"

I went back to the stable with him to help. By the time the train got in he had the team ready and the groceries stowed away safely. We drove over to the station and loaded several perforated cardboard boxes full of peep-peeping yellow chicks onto the sleigh. Curt covered them carefully with the numerous blankets and covers we thought had been to wrap around Doc Horner. Then he indicated the store with his thumb.

"You can tell the boys that what Mrs. Halligan expectin' has arrived— all four hundred of them. He grinned at us as he drove away.

Whiting and her guest, Mrs. Leon Whiting of Lapeer, visited in the primary department after attending the early session of the Administration Class. than thirty-one dollars.

Money raised in this sale will go into the band uniform fund, which is constantly growing through donations and P. T. A. sponsored activities.

The P. T. A. has been a major factor in the growth and development of the band, for it sponsored the band when it was struggling to get started early last year and raised money throughout the year to get the band on its feet. Now, the P. T. A. has taken as its yearly project the band uniform fund.

Members of the band are deeply grateful to this fine organization for its much needed assistance and hope to show their sincere appreciation by striving always toward higher goals in the musical field, but at present the band has run into serious difficulties. With advent of basketball season the band is unable to use the school gym for rehearsals. The band hoping it will soon have a home.
